* About a quarter of the total children's books published in 2015 were picture books, and about half of those depict non-human characters like animals & trucks.

 The remainder depict white characters.

National Ambassador for Children's Literature Gene Luen Yang Issues the following challenge to young people and educators:

The Reading Without Walls Challenge

- 1 Read a book about a character who doesn't look like you or live like you
- 2 Read a book about a topic you don't know much about
- 3 Read a book in a format that you don't normally read For Fun (a chapter book, a graphic novel, a book in verse, etc)

Introduction

SUPPORTERS ARGUE

Any new technology will have some risks, but the potential benefits of genetic engineering far outweigh the possible dangers. Genetically modified plants and animals are safe and could help end world hunger, and researchers will eventually be able to cure a variety of diseases and disabilities through gene therapy.

OPPONENTS ARGUE

Genetic engineering and synthetic biology may provide some benefits, but they are so new and untested that they pose unacceptable risks both to humans and the environment. Fields like synthetic biology raise ethical quandaries and present real dangers to patients, and genetically modified food poses health risks to consumers and may inadvertently harm the

Hijacked Jets Destroy World Trade Center, Hit Pentagon: Terrorist Acts Against U.S. Targets, 1983-2001

September 11, 2001

Terrorist Acts Against U.S. Targets, 1983-2001 Following are some of the major serious terrorist bombing attacks against U.S. targets since 1983: April 18, 1983 Car bomb blows up U.S. embassy in Beirut

BACKGROUND

9/11 Terrorist Attack

Hijackers belonging to the international terrorist network Al Qaeda commandeered four commercial planes, crashing two into New York City's World Trade Center and one into the Pentagon in Arlington, Virginia. The fourth hijacked plane, presumably headed for the U.S. Capitol building in Washington, D.C., crashed into a Pennsylvania field. In all, nearly 3,000 people died in the attacks, making them the deadliest terrorist strike against the U.S. In the immediate aftermath of the attacks, the U.S., under the leadership of President George W. Bush, led several allies into a war against

Did You Know?

- Cuba is the largest island in the Caribbean.
- Cuba is home to the world's smallest bird: the zunzuncito (bee hummingbird). It weighs less than 1 ounce and is as small as a grasshopper.
- Cuba's waters are full of wildlife, including manatees, crocodiles, sharks, and much more. There are about five hundred species of fish in Cuba. The country is also home to snakes, iguanas, turtles, flamingos, and bats.
- Cubans have two family names—one from the mother and one from the father. The mother's family name comes last, but people are still called by their father's family name.
- Playing dominoes is a national pastime, especially for men.
- The rumba, mambo, and cha-cha dances originated in Cuba.
- More than one million Cuban Americans live in Florida.
- Cuba is known throughout the world for its cigars, including the Monte Cristo, Romeo y Julietta, and Cohiba brands.
- Cubans stand close together when talking, often touching or tapping each other when they are making a point.
- Cubans fondly refer to their island as El Cocodrilo because it is shaped somewhat like a crocodile.
- Cubans love to read. Most towns in Cuba hold annual book festivals, in which the centers of towns and storefronts become open-air bookstores, and kids and adults wander through and shop for books.

The royal palm, found all over the island, is Cuba's national tree. It can withstand hurricane-force winds. It usually grows to be 40 or 50 feet (12–15 meters) tall.
